Introduction

Loh Eben Ong LLP has been online since 1998, earning trust as a leading Singapore law firm. Sadly, scammers sometimes misuse our name, website domains (including law.com.sg), or email addresses for fraudulent purposes. These may include fake invoices, false payment requests, or impersonating our lawyers.

This article explains how to recognise scams, verify communications, and protect yourself before acting on any suspicious requests.

Recognising Fraudulent Communications

Scammers may attempt to:

✓ Send fake emails appearing to be from @law.com.sg
✓ Request payment for services you never engaged
✓ Impersonate our lawyers or staff in calls or WhatsApp messages
✓ Use forged letterheads or documents with our name

How to Verify Authenticity

① Check the email address carefully – Official addresses end with @law.com.sg; beware of small spelling changes or added symbols.
② Inspect the email header – View full headers to confirm it came from our genuine mail servers.
③ Contact us directly – Call +65 6338 1810 or email info @ law.com.sg [without spaces]

before making any payment.

④ Avoid urgent payment traps – We never pressure for immediate transfers without proper documentation.

Best Practices to Stay Safe

✓ Always verify requests via official contact channels

✓ Avoid clicking unknown links or downloading suspicious attachments

✓ Never share sensitive details without confirming authenticity

✓ Report suspected scams to us and the Singapore Police Force
